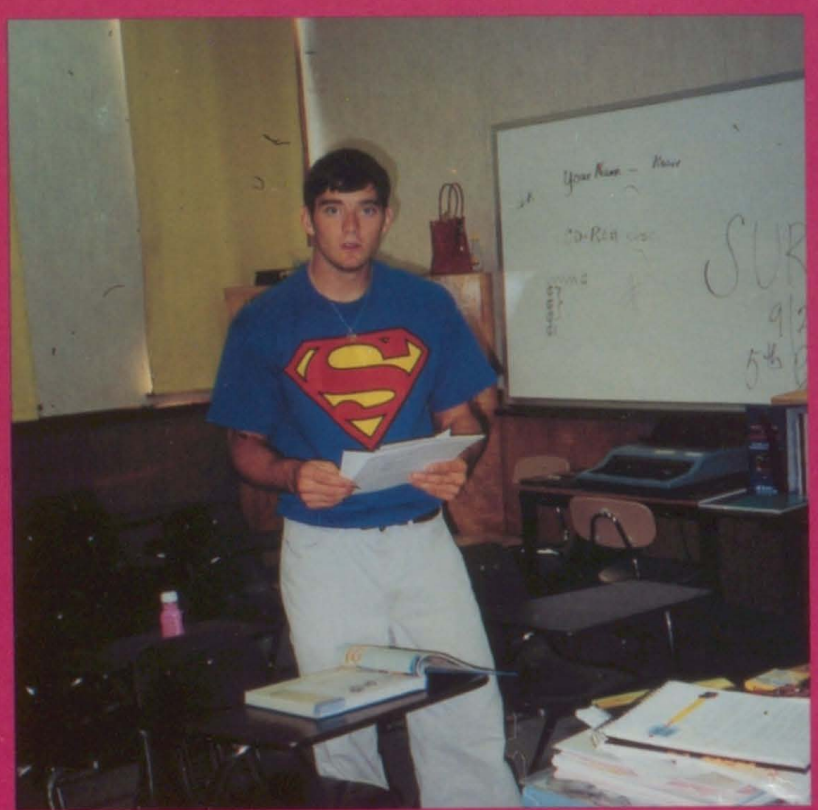
VOLUME XLII



The members of the class of 2001 (above) wear their senior shirt, which they designed. Billy Wayne Nelson drew the stick figure for the sleeve and the back. The shirt theme was "We're through sticking around." It's a bird! It's a plane! NO — it's superman. NOT! It's Marcus Taylor caught doing his work for Business Principles.

This could be fun ...

Jessica Flowers (above) is caught sticking her face in the pie at a pep rally. By the look on her face we can't tell if she is excited or if she is asking "why me?". Jonah Edmondson went to the FBLA National Conference and caught severe tooth decay.

The band earned an excellent at Opp, Daleville, and District.

Band Director Michael Bird and the Rebel Marching Band participated in many activities during the school year. The band participated in the marching competitions at Daleville and Opp. The score for both these contests was an excellent.

There were eighteen rookies in the thirty-six-member band, who, along with the other members put in many hours to be successful at performances and competitions.

During the year the band took part in many other events including the Elba Christmas Parade, a concert at Pike Manor Nursing Home, a Christmas concert, and a spring concert.

In the spring at district competition, the band scored another excellent.

Middle School SGA

The Middle School Student Government Association, sponsored by Mrs. Sharon Sasser, was involved in several school activities. The SGA sponsored a Haunted House and a Harvest King and queen during the Fall festival. In the spring, the club sponsored a middle school dance and attended a play in Dothan. Funds raised from their activities were used to finance middle school projects including lockers and picnic tables for the break area. The SGA helped the middle school with many needed items to make the school complete.

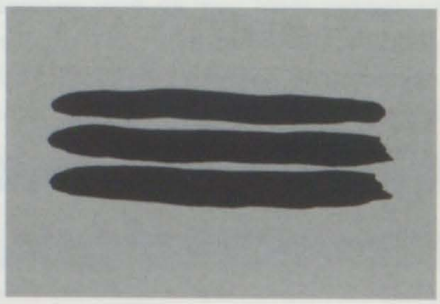
Beta Club

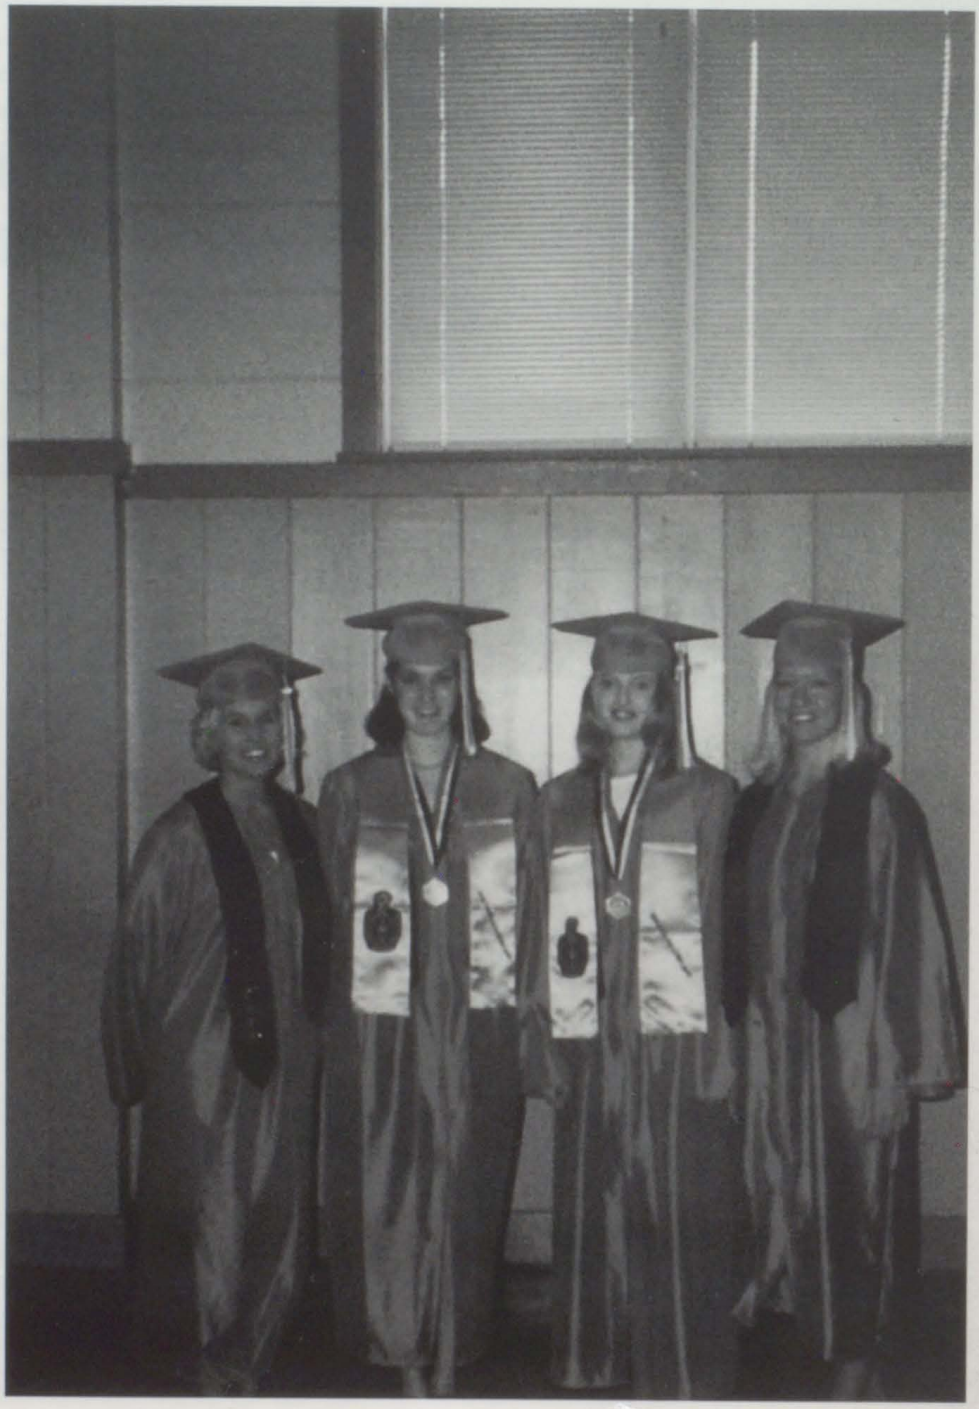
This year's Beta Club consisted of 18 total members in grades 9-12. Selling candy in the fall and chances on various donated items during the spring were the two fundraising projects conducted by the Beta's this year.

A portion of the money raised was used to hold a Christmas party for some elementary school children. The club bought food and paid for a Santa Claus. Each Beta member sponsored a child and provided them with a gift that would suit his or her needs.

The money earned was also used to fund their annual trip to the State Beta Club Convention in Birmingham. Ten members, Sarah Maddox, Amie Perry, Kimberly Jordan, Heather Danley, Matthew Richards, Randall Brunson, Heather Golden, Anastasia Harbuck, Ashley Wambles, and Amanda Perry, attended the state conference this year. Sarah Maddox entered the talent competition playing Bach's "Toccata in D Minor" on the piano.



Mrs. Lisa Duebelt (below) is the sponsor of the Beta Club. The four seniors (right) who are members of the Beta club are Heather Danley, Amie Perry, Kimberly Jordan, and Sarah Maddox, Heather and Sarah are wearing black stoles that are symbols of the Beta Club. Amie and Kimberly are wearing golf stoles that are also symbols of the Beta Club; However, Amie's stole is embroidered with the word Valedictorian and Kimberly's with the word salutatorian. Both the gold and black stoles have a large patch Beta Club emblem attached.



The Beta Club officers (top) are President Amie Perry, Vice President Heather Danley, Secretary Sarah Maddox, Treasurer Kimberly Jordan, and Scrapbook Editor Heather Golden. Matthew Richards is also a Scrapbook Editor but he was unavailable for the picture. Members of the Senior Beta Club (middle) are Kimberly Jordan, Brittany Thompson, Johnell Brown, Amie Perry, Matthew Richards, Jason Danley, Randall Brunson, Ashley Wambles, Sarah Maddox, Heather Golden, Anastasia Harbuck, Anna Miller, Kim Rayburn, Dawn Johnson, Allan Harrison, Heather Danley, and Jamey White During the Christmas party (bottom) everyone had their eyes fixed on Santa as he delivered the presents. All Beta members would agree that the looks on the faces of the kids made the whole project worthwhile.

Junior Beta Club

The club's project for the year was to produce a community cookbook to raise money for the annual field trip. The cookbook was named by Jeff Hobart and was dedicated to Kacy Clark. Kacy was the first president of the Junior Beta Club. Members sold subscriptions for the cookbook which would contain recipes of people connected to the Zion Chapel Community. It was named "Cooking With Jack" and more than 200 copies were sold. Mrs. Dedra Henson (pictured at right) was the sponsor of the club. J when asked about the cookbook, she said, "The books are very colorful and represent the community well." Money raised by the club financed several projects and one of the most popular was the club's annual field trip. This year the field trip was to New Orleans. Several members of the club, as well as parents of members, made the trip.

FCCLA members Keely Sikes and Kristin Johns, both seniors, participated in FCCLA Week. During this special week of celebration activities were planned for each day. Tuesday was Red and White Day. Red and White are the FCCLA colors. Red stands for strength and white stands for sincerity.

"Experience the Excitement and Stop the Violence" was the focus of this year's activities for the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA).

Jason Dorsey, a guest speaker at a regular monthly meeting, spoke about stopping the violence. He gave every student who attended the meeting a book on how each of them could help stop school violence.

FCCLA members conducted two fundraising activities that netted the Chapter over $1000 in profit. The first activity was a fall sale of small gift ideas from A+ Sales. The second activity was a sale of homemade baked goods contributed by the members themselves. Brownies, cookies, candies and cupcakes were the items of inventory in the bake sale.

Chapter members attended a Cluster meeting and a state meeting during the year. A Cluster Meeting is where FCCLA members from several states meet to participate in educational and motivational activities. This year the Cluster meeting was held in Birmingham. Crystal Boyd, Vanessa Liptrot, Brad Cotton, Jeremy Eddins, Kelly Johnson, Rebecca Ward, Allan Harrison, John ell Brown, Samantha McWaters and Joye Grantham attended this meeting.

At a state meeting new officers are selected and outstanding chapters are recognized for their work. Ten students and their chaperones, Mrs. Joan Hobbs and Mrs. Brenda Johnson, attended this meeting. Mrs. Hobbs is the FCCLA sponsor.

The officers of FCCLA are Vice President Sarah Maddox, Secretary Nichole Mitchell, Recreational Leader Kristie Hall, Recreational Leader Vanessa Liptrot, Historian Shambrae Calhoun, Parliamentarian Allan Harrison, and Charles Spears. Rebecca Ward, the president, was not available for the picture.

FFA

Last summer, six officers attended the seventy-fifth annual state convention. The Ag Mechanics team competed in this state competition and brought home a fourth place state banner. Blakely Helms competed in tractor driving and placed sixth. Later in the summer, five officers attended the "Made for Excellence" leadership workshop at ESJC.

Activities for the year included the annual fruit sale. Members also participated in FFA Week. The activities for that week included a petting zoo for the elementary and middle school students, ATV safety day, cherry cheesecake for members at break, and wearing FFA colors during the week.

In October some members made the trip to the 2000 Sunbelt Agricultural Exposition in Moultrie, Georgia. While there, they had a chance to sample many different types of food and were able to pet some animals in the livestock display. Some even experimented with tractors and other machinery. During this trip, Kristie Hall won a TV, David Eddins won a hat, and Josh Carnley won a mug.

The Second period Ag class with sixteen senior members and seven freshmen members built three 4' x 4' x 8 ' playhouse that had a 2-foot porches. The playhouses were built in an effort to raise money for the chapter.

The annual FFA Banquet was held in May in the auditorium. Everyone enjoyed the catered meal of BBQ, baked beans, and rice. They also enjoyed a variety of sweets.

Some junior and senior members of FBLA are David Eddins, Heather Danley, Kristie Hall, Jessica Flowers, Malloree Bedsole, Heather Golden, Edin Karabeg, Kim Jordan, Heather Arnold, Shambrae Calhoun, Barbara Bar, Denise Cooper, Vanessa Liptrot, and Kristin Johns.

Malloree Bedsole (left) was named Who's Who in District IV at the State Conference. Who's Who is for those people who have worked consistently for the most years to further the achievements of FBLA. Lashell Marler, Mrs. Rachel Bryan, Tracy Banks, and Jonah Edmondson are outside the Convention Center in Long Beach, California. They are attending the Conference during a week of the summer of 2000. Tracy competed in Introduction to Parliamentary Procedure and Jonah competed in FBLA Principles and Procedures.

Zion Chapel Chapter is named the Outstanding Chapter in the State of Alabama at State Conference.

Heather Arnold, Denise Cooper, Lee Boutwell, Allan Harrison, Macon Hodge, Amber Henderson, Whittney Stephens, and Keri Senn were accompanied by their Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) sponsor, Mrs. Rachel Bryan, to the National Fall Leadership Conference in Louisville, Kentucky. The conference opened with a general session with keynote speaker Dr. Jim Wand. The second day of the conference was spent attending workshops, seeing exhibits, and visiting the FBLA Marketplace. The conference ended with the second general session and a keynote speaker whose theme was the dram that results in big business.

The first trip of the year of chapter members was to attend the Joint Leadership Development Conference in October. Amber Henderson, Lee Boutwell, Matthew Richards, Heather Arnold, and Allan Harrison made the Saturday trip to Birmingham along with FFA member Sam Wambles.

A large number of Zion Chapel's members attended and competed at the FBLA Region Conference in Atmore. Members competed in twenty-one events and had finalists in ten. The winners in individual events were Kristin Johns, Business Procedures; Marcus Taylor, Economics; Brandon Arnold, Introduction to Parliamentary Procedure; Lee Boutwell, Introduction to Business; Cortney Tracy, FBLA Principals and Procedures; Sarah Maddox, Job Interview; Malloree Bedsole, Future Business Leader; and, Dawn Johnson, Introduction to Business Communications. Members of the Parliamentary Procedure team are Amie Perry, Heather Arnold, Heather Danley, Allan Harrison, Whitney Stephens, and Tracy Banks.

Thirty-two members of the Chapter attended the Alabama State Conference in early April. The regional winners competed at this conference. Competition began on the first day with written tests. The Parliamentary Procedure and Entrepreneurship teams made it to the finals with five other teams in each event.

Malloree Bedsole was named Who's Who for District IV. The Parliamentary Procedure team won third place. And the Zion Chapel Chapter was named Outstanding Chapter of the District and Outstanding Chapter of the State.

Late night practice for the Parliamentary Procedure team (above, left) eventually paid off but at 2 a.m. it seems doubtful. Heather, Heather, Whittney, and Allan look "done" in. When all else fails, call room service. Heather Arnold and Malloree Bedsole (left) needed some food to regain their strength. Heather Danley (above) tried to sleep on the bus home from State Conference. Do the glasses filter out the noise?

It's spring in Birmingham and the flowers are blooming outside the Sheraton Civic Center Hotel. LeighAnne Buhrmann, Rebecca Ward, Brittany Thompson, and Amber Henderson (top right) enjoy the warm weather. More fun on the bus home (middle right) is enjoyed by members Brandon Arnold, Lee Boutwell, Matthew Richards, Sarah Maddox, and Heather Golden. Denise Cooper, Kim Jordan, Kristin Johns, and Barbara Bar (bottom right) are in a their official business dress and headed for a general session. David Eddins (below) accepts a plaque from District IV Vice President Amanda Peak. The plaque names the Zion Chapel Chapter as the Outstanding Chapter of the District for the year.

Curt Stinson and Josh Carnley (left) cannot find a place to sit while waiting for a meeting to start. Curt decided to use the floor but Josh is not sure about how clean the floor might be. Malloree Bedsole (right) presses the outfit she is going to wear for her interview as Future Business Leader.

More bus fun (left) is enjoyed by Heather Arnold, Amber Henderson, Brandon Arnold, Billy Wayne Nelson, Eddie Sanders, and Allan Harrison. On long bus rides people have to make fun for themselves. Ashley Wallace, Keri Senn and Whittney Stephens (right) pose with a talking, stuffed parrot that someone bought at the Cracker Barrel Restaurant where the group stopped for breakfast/lunch on the way to Birmingham.

Eighth Grade members of the Middle Level Chapter of FBLA are Jeremy Sanders, TJ Winters, Roy King, Shannon Allen, Luke Taylor, Austin Smith, Meagan Johnson, Zach Simmons, Brandon Parker, Kenna Roberts, Nicole Brown, Leanna Hammond, Lance Dickey, Clay Lewis, Jason Sanders, Meta Gatlin, Anna Edmondson, Chad Yager, Katy Paez, and Charlie Hurd.

The Middle Level Chapter officers are Vice President Maegan Johnson, President Roy King, and Secretary/Treasurer Lance Dickey.

At the end of the fund-raising activity, the members of the Middle Level Chapter who had sold the amount set as a quota were treated to a pizza party. They were furnished drinks and were allowed to eat as much pizza as they wanted. Mrs. Rita Johnson, A+ Sale representative came with ten large pizzas for sixteen people. Kenna Roberts and Nicole Brown can be seen here enjoying the activity. By the time the date set for the pizza party had arrived, the prizes earned by each member had arrived. In addition to the prize he selected, Jason Holloway was awarded a $50 cash prize for being the top salesperson. A $50 top prize was promised only if the Chapter sold over $2000 in merchandise. They exceeded $2000, forty percent of which was profit for the chapter.

Jason Holloway is the leading salesperson in a fund-raising activity.

Sixteen members of the Middle Level chapter of Future Business Leaders of America raised over $2000 selling gift items included in the Woodland Gardens Collection from A+ Sales.

Jason Holloway was the top salesperson for this fund-raising activity. He sold over $350 in merchandise, gaining for the Chapter nearly $150 in profit. The other top salespersons were, in order, Abe Childs, Lashonda Cole, Byron McWaters, and Jenny Downing.

Nicole Brown, Lance Dickey, Zach Simmons, Kristen McLendon, Christina McWaters, Clay Lewis, Austin Smith, Kenna Roberts, Morgan Miley, Roy King, Haley Wambles, and Heather Sanders are the other members who participated in the project.

The money earned by these members was used to finance the Chapter's community service project. The problem of a shortage of duplicating paper was solved when half of the profit was spent for paper for the high school staff.

Zachary Simmons is caught by surprise as he buys his morning break.

Mr. Vickers is wondering if Mr. Grant's case of spring fever is perhaps contagious. His body language says that he does not feel that Mr. Grant's malady is one that he wants to catch.

You're My Angel

Senior Christie Roberts looks on as Seniors David Eddins and Malloree Bedsole (above) reach for balloons that were part of the decorations. Prom Queen Malloree Bedsole and Prom King Billy Wayne Nelson were chosen by the juniors and seniors attending the prom to be the prom royalty. Billy Wayne and Malloree came to the prom together.

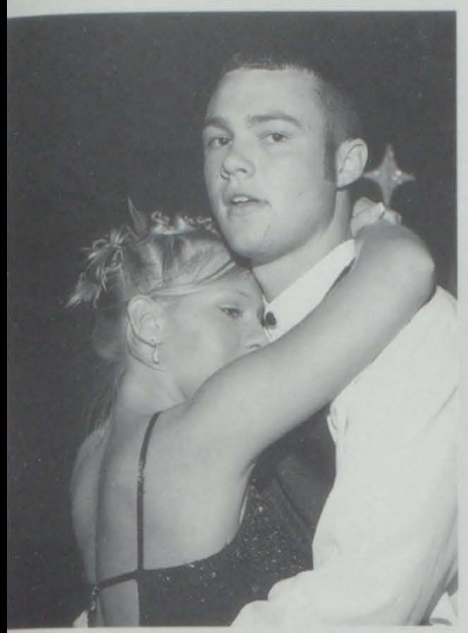
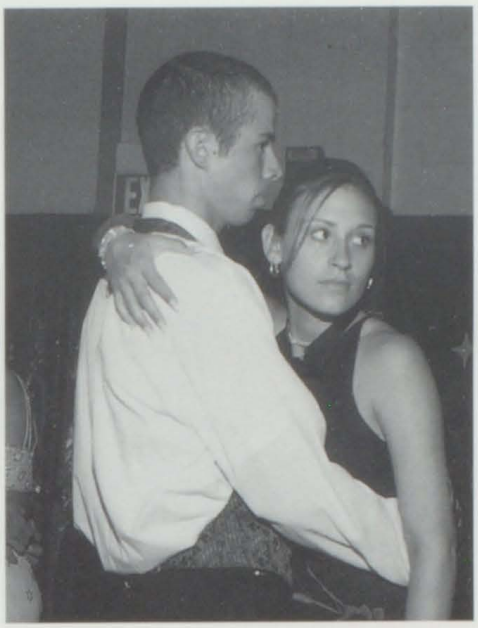
Senior Sarah Maddox dances a slow dance with her date Mark Wicker. Sarah, as senior class president, was a member of the first couple in the lead out.



Senior Christie Roberts exchanges dates for a dance. She is actually dancing with Josh Richter who came to the prom with Junior Class President Megan Legg.



The prom is for juniors and seniors and their dates.

On a late April Friday night, the junior and seniors and their dates enjoyed the annual junior-senior prom. It began with the lead out of class officers and then other members of the junior and senior classes. This gave everybody an opportunity to be introduced and to show off the finery in which they were dressed. Parents are always invited to attend the lead out, which takes place on the front steps of the school. After the lead out the juniors and seniors go into the building and the prom begins. It was, as always, a closed prom. A junior or senior could leave only if their parents came to get them. Otherwise, everyone stays until midnight when the prom is over. There is good and music and everyone wanted to stay because they were having such a good time.

Members of the senior class (above, right) get together for a traditional prom group picture. It is late in the evening and jackets and shoes have been shed. As can be seen from the number of people in the picture, a large number of seniors chose to attend the prom. Freshman Whittney Stephens (above, right) dances with her date Senior Adam Blake. Shambrae Calhoun, Kala Bundrick, and Barbara Bar (far left) are involved in whatever action is taking place on the floor. Shambrae and Barbara are seniors. Kala is a sophomore and came to the prom as someone's date. Senior Heather Arnold and her date Steven Adcock (near left) are enjoying Themselves participating in the prom festivities.

Senior Curt Stinson brought Paula Caswell to the prom. They enjoy the music of a slow song.

The prom is a starry night on a mountaintop.

The prom colors were blue and silver. The main decorations were two staircases that met in the middle of the auditorium and formed towers of a castle. The walls were adorned with blue paper covered in stars giving the impression that the dance was held in the courtyard of a castle located on the top of a mountain. The inner courtyard was the dance floor and the outer courtyard was the location of tables and chairs for eating guests. The tables, which were all round, were covered in gauze tablecloths. Strings of colored lights had been attached underneath the tables further giving the impression of a starry night on a mountaintop. At midnight the prom was over and each guest was given a souvenir glass.

Class of 2001

The official class photographer told the members of the class that they could pose in any manner that they chose; and, this is the result. The actions of the class in this pose are pretty typical of their personalities individually and collectively as a class. As a class they have left their mark on the school, their teachers, and the underclassmen at Zion Chapel High School. The graduation ceremony was held on the football field. It began at 8 p.m. When the formal ceremony was over the members of the class gathered in the end zone to say their goodbyes to each other. Mrs. Rachel Bryan and Mr. Randy Grant, class sponsors, walked to the end zone and gave each an envelope that contained a diploma, a report card, and an official transcript. Each senior was also given a flower from the bouquet of yellow roses and other flowers that were blue. Yellow and blue were their class colors. While the seniors were in the end zone their class song was played.

Felicia Williams, Rebecca Ward, Amelia Wallace, Charles Spears, Curt Stinson, and Marcus Taylor are in a group evenly divided between boys and girls. In fact the class were nearly evenly divided between boys and girls.

Kristena Bray, Barbara Bar, Heather Arnold, Crystal Boyd, Malloree Bedsole, and Adam Blake are anticipating getting a diploma in a ceremony that is about to begin. These senior groups were made in the auditorium where the seniors gathered for pictures before going to the football field to graduate.

Sarah Maddox is in a group with classmates Vanessa Liptrot, Nichole Mitchell, Josh McWaters, Josh Mehaffey, and Edin Karabeg. Edin is an exchange student from Sarajevo, Bosnia. Sarah is wearing a black stole that indicates that she is a member of the Beta Club.

Kim Jordan, Kristin Johns, Amber Hurd, Kristie Hall, Patrick Hussey, and Blakely Helms are the seniors who were picked for this group. Kim is the salutatorian of the class as indicated by her gold stole and the medal that she wears.

During the half hour before the graduation ceremony begins the seniors pose for a formal portrait and a series of group pictures. Shambrae Calhoun, Heather Danley, Denise Cooper, David Eddins, Chris Fuller, and Tony Gamble are in this group of six.

Keely Sikes, Patrick Oglesby, Christie Roberts, Amie Perry, Billy Wayne Nelson, and Jonathan Senn are one group of six members of the Class of 2001. Amie wears a gold stole and a medal that signify that she is the valedictorian of the class of 2001.

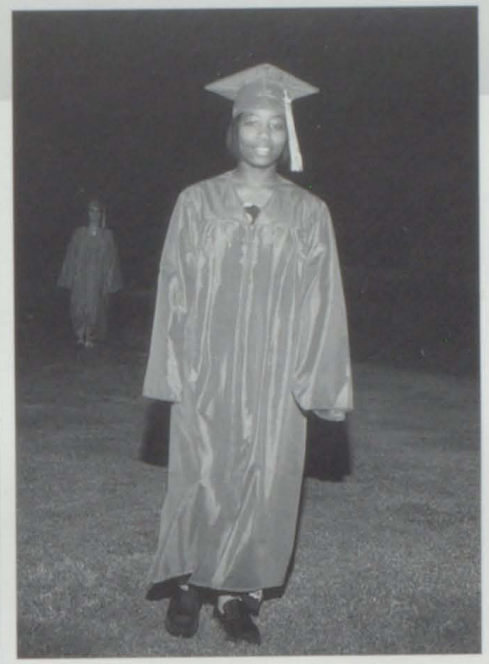
Kim Jordan (left) is the salutatorian of the class of 2001. She gave the salutatory, which is the welcome address. She welcomed family, friends, teachers, and the other guests to the ceremony. Malloree Bedsole (middle), class vice president, gave the closing remarks before the recessional. Amie Perry (right) is the valedictorian of the class of 2001. She gave the farewell address. Amie was the featured speaker at the ceremony. Kim Malloree, and Amie are pictured during the processional.

The seniors left the auditorium five minutes before the ceremony was to begin. They are waiting at the gate to the football field for the teachers and staff members to enter and go to the places reserved for them on the field. It can readily be seen that they are involved in various activities during their wait. Many want to make sure that their hair is okay and that their cap is on straight. Some just fold their arms and wait. None can be still for long. It did not rain during the ceremony but there was lightning that could be seen in the distance.

Class of 2001

Thirty-six seniors took part in the Commencement Exercises for the class of 2001. Here a group of them wave goodbye while waiting to enter the field for the ceremony. Crystal Boyd, Heather Danley, and David Eddins wave goodbye while Barbara Bar, Adam Blake, and Malloree Bedsole are interested in either the conversation going on or in what is happening behind the photographer. A ceremony of just over thirty minutes was completed without a major "hitch". How many of you seniors remember what each of you gave Mr. Vickers while he was handing each of you a diploma cover and shaking your hand? These are just a part of the memories that will be remembered for years to come—memories of the senior year for the class of 2001.

Out of thirty-six seniors, the photographer was able to catch six individual shots that were representative of the expressions of the seniors as they participated in the processional. David Eddins (left) is more solemn than he has been in days. Seldom was he seen without a smile on his face (and not talking). Crystal Boyd (middle) is smiling but not as big as she can smile. Denise Cooper (right) has a very happy smile on her face. It is a very happy evening for her and her classmates.



Salutatorian Kim Jordan (left) was number two in the lineup for the processional. She can be seen waiting behind Mr. Randy Grant, one of the senior sponsors. The other sponsor, Mrs. Rachel Bryan, is talking to Mr. Grant and holding the script notebook that contains the speeches of each of the people who will speak during the ceremony. She is also holding white envelopes that contain diplomas, final report cards, and official transcripts. At this point the seniors do not know what are in the envelopes. They are expecting that their diplomas will be mailed to them—and under special circumstances, the envelopes would have been mailed. Behind Mrs. Bryan is valedictorian Amie Perry who possessed the highest academic average among those held by the members of the class. This earned her the title of valedictorian an the right to lead their classmates into the Commencement Exercises.

Cortney Senn, the Middle School Fall Festival Queen, is honored by Mrs. Sharon Sasser. Cortney is sitting on her "rocking chair" throne.

Queen Cortney speaks to her many subjects in the middle school break area. These are the people who have helped her to raise the most money in her quest for the throne.

In her place of honor, Queen Cortney holds her bouquet of flowers.
